

Governance of Family Entities

Our Family Offices practice advises founders, leadership teams, boards of directors, committees and others with oversight responsibility on the full range of governance matters for family entities. We advise on governance at various stages of the family entity's life cycle, from entrepreneurs just beginning to build their family legacy to family offices spanning several generations, each with different attitudes to wealth.

We are thought leaders in this arena, advising on current and trending perspectives in the governance of family entities. As families become more complex, family offices are often a conduit for managing a family's entire wealth, heightening the importance of governance. Working with a diverse range of clients spanning high net worth families and the single and multifamily offices designed to serve them, we focus on sound governance structures to effectively transition accumulated wealth through generations.
